

DENIS LISUNOV

INFORMATION SYSTEMS ENGINEERING STUDENT

My appreciation for software began very early, with jailbreaking consoles and learning to write video games into disks. With time, this fascination evolved into me modding games and hosting various game servers, for me and my friends to play on. I always wanted to know what it was like "behind the curtain" and how to make software do what I want, so that is why I chose programming as my career. I have been teaching myself programming for 2+ years.
